ROSS SHAFER AV REQUIREMENTS

LAPTOP CONNECTION: Ross brings his own Apple Macbook Pro laptop. He prefers an HDMI connection, however he will also bring DVI and VGA dongle connectors.

SLIDE ADVANCE: He brings his own Perfect Cue RF Wireless. Ross's slides are generated using Apple's Keynote software program (NOT Microsoft PowerPoint).

WHAT ABOUT LOADING HIS SLIDES ON YOUR SYSTEM? Ross uses his own proprietary material, as well as video clips and photos. Therefore, he does not load his slide program on any other computers or systems.

AUDIO: A wireless lavaliere microphone is preferred. Ross also incorporates many embedded videos clips in his presentation so he will depend upon the HDMI cable to deliver audio. If you use a DVI or VGA connection, Ross requires a COMPUTER AUDIO connection through his laptop's 3.5mm adapter headphone jack.

IMAG: If you use Image Magnification (IMAG), Ross needs one screen devoted to his slides. Why? His slides are used as punch lines and timing effects. If you use only one screen, Ross' slides need to be on the screen 100% of the time.

RECORDING: The material presented by Ross Shafer is copyrighted by Ross Shafer Consultant's Inc. Therefore, distribution of any recording is very limited and at the sole discretion of Ross Shafer. See Permissions.

PERMISSION TO RECORD: To record, you will need written permission from Ross Shafer Consultants, Inc. which specifies for whom and where the recording can be viewed.

RIGHTS: If you do record any part of Ross's presentation, (1) The recording is intended for archival purposes. (2) You may use up to one-minute of the recording for promotional purposes on your website or future meeting promos. (3) Ross must get a full length DVD of the recording (within 30 days of the event). (4) You may NOT post any of Ross's recording on public user-generated web sites like Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIN, TikTok, YouTube, Vimeo, Ebaum's World, et al.
